THE LATE JOHN D. JONES.

He Was a Brockway Pioneer and Had Passed His 69th Year.

John D. Jones was born in London, Ont., January 17th, 1825, of English parentage. His father had come to America in the latter part of the last century and settled at Savannah, Ga., but later removed to Canada where his son was born. In May, 1838, they went to DeKalb county, Ill., and in 1843 John D. moved to Port Huron, Michigan, where he engaged in lumbering until about 1845 when he took up the labor of farming in Brockway township and was labor of the hardest kind, as all old settlers know, to bring the wilderness into a state of civilization and make a home for himself and family. There were many hardships to endure but his perseverance and zeal were unflinching and he was rewarded with a fair share of this world's goods. He joined his life with that of Martha Vandenvurgh, of Port Huron, in 1846, and from this union there were seven children, only three surviving him: Mary, wife of D. H. Nicholson, of Rollo, Ill.; George H., of Shabbona, Mich.; and Martha, wife of J. E. Vincent, of Yale. The wife and mother died in October, 1875, and in December, 1876, he was married to Hannah Stonehouse, who survives him. There were no children from this union. The subject of this sketch had received in his younger days a good common school education, and his shrewdness, honesty and fair dealing with those he came in contact brought him the honor of several offices. For about twenty years he held the office of supervisor and in 1880, the last term he held he was elected without any opposition at all. While residing on his place northwest of Yale, called Merrillville then, he opened up a mercantile store and was also postmaster there a great many years, until in fact he was elected representative to the state legislature from the third district of St. Clair county in 1876. He held the office of Justice of the Peace for about 30 years and was school director for over 20 years. His life has been one of activity. In lumbering, rafting, farming, mercantile business and the arduous labor of holding numerous offices his days have been passed. His was the credit of building the old road from Brockway to Merrillville, and it was he who ran the first raft of logs from Port Huron to Toledo. Even after his retirement from the active work of his farm and his removal to the village of Brockway Centre, now Yale, his life was a busy and a useful one, and after a very short illness he passes away at the age of 69 years, a pioneer of this section, a man who has done a great deal of public good and who will be missed and regretted by all.

A GREAT NEWSPAPER COMBINATION.

For the past 52 years, over half a century The Michigan Farmer has been published, and it is the oldest regular agricultural journal under one name on this continent.

With largely increased capital and under new management that has had 23 years successful experience in agricultural journalism, this great paper is making rapid strides towards the top in the galaxy of agricultural literature of America. It is most beautifully printed on high grade paper, and employs the most eminent writers on the science and practice of agriculture, horticulture, live stock, dairying, apiary and poultry. Has a standard veterinary department for free treatment of all diseases of farm animals. A legal and medical department contains all the agricultural news of the country and an invaluable literary and household department every week. Admits no swindling nor immoral advertisements and is in fact in every way a great, sound, practical, agricultural, live stock and family journal, that the agriculturalists of Michigan may justly feel proud of, and subscribe for with satisfaction and profit. We are pleased to be able to announce that we can furnish to our subscribers The Michigan Farmer and THE YALE EXAMINER, both one year, making a total of 104 papers, for the low price of $1.50, certainly a bargain that should be liberally patronized. Specimen copies free.

Virginia Farms.

Tidewater, Virginia, is now the best place to go for a cheap home, either cleared or woodland. Good chance to make money. Any person desirous of looking up this particular location, located between the York and the James rivers and about 40 miles from Newport News, Southampton, Old Point Comfort and Norfolk, one of the finest harbors on the Atlantic coast, write or call on J. B. Francis, Box 77, Yale, Mich. 471f

Madam, your attention, please. Do you expect to dye this season? We mean, will you dye any stockings, carpet rags, cloaks, dresses, feathers, or anything; for if you intend to, we are anxious to have you dye with Magic Dyes. They are easy to use and we believe them superior to most other brands. Carpet weavers who have used them say they give more durable colors which don't crack or fade like others. They color cotton, wool, etc., with same package, thus doing better work on mixed goods. Although the packages are larger and color about double the goods, we sell them at 10 cents, same as other brands. Sold by Grant Holden, Yale.
